

Fallon Solutions reminds Queensland homeowners to book early and avoid plumbing emergencies before the festive season.

Brisbane, QLD – November 2025

As Queensland heads into another hot and busy festive season, Fallon Solutions is urging homeowners to get their drains inspected before the Christmas rush. Each year, the company's plumbing team sees a sharp rise in emergency callouts across South East Queensland as kitchens, bathrooms, and outdoor drains are pushed to their limits by summer entertaining and holiday guests.

"Blocked drains can quickly escalate into major disruptions, especially when you've got a house full of family and friends," said Mike Preston, General Manager – Plumbing at Fallon Solutions. "A simple inspection now can prevent costly and stressful issues later when trades are fully booked, and the last thing you want is a plumbing emergency over Christmas lunch."

Why It's Important to Prepare Before Summer

Blocked drains are one of the most common causes of household plumbing emergencies in Queensland during the summer months. High temperatures, increased water usage, and seasonal rain all contribute to heavier strain on pipes and stormwater systems. Early warning signs such as slow-draining sinks, gurgling toilets, or unpleasant odours often indicate a developing blockage that will only worsen without professional attention.

Fallon Solutions' licensed plumbers use advanced CCTV drain inspection cameras and high-pressure jetting equipment to identify and clear blockages quickly. These tools allow technicians to see exactly what's happening inside the pipes and remove built-up debris, roots, or grease before it leads to overflowing drains, burst pipes, or property damage.

"Homeowners sometimes ignore minor drainage issues until it's too late," said Preston. "But just like you service your car before a road trip, your plumbing system needs a pre-holiday check to make sure everything runs smoothly when guests arrive."

Stay Stress-Free Over the Holidays

Preventative maintenance before Christmas saves time, money, and frustration. During December, emergency plumbing demand soars as last-minute repairs compete for limited technician availability. Fallon Solutions is encouraging residents to plan ahead and take advantage of November availability to ensure their plumbing systems are ready for the festive season.

Booking an inspection early means your drains will be clear and your plumbing prepared for the added workload of cooking, cleaning, and entertaining. It also helps homeowners avoid costly after-hours callouts, which are more common during the peak holiday period.

“Being proactive is the best way to protect your home,” said Preston. “We want our customers to spend Christmas enjoying time with family, not dealing with overflowing sinks or blocked pipes.”

Book Now Before the Rush

Appointments for November and December are already filling fast, with limited spots remaining before Christmas. Fallon Solutions is urging homeowners to book now to secure a convenient time and ensure their plumbing systems are holiday ready.

Don't wait until it's too late; schedule your drain inspection today.
